

Induction Loop sensitivity locations

This highlights where an induction loop (also known as hearing loop, or T loop) has the greatest sensitivity when connecting to a hearing aid.

The green highlights priority seating for deaf/hard of hearing individuals that use a hearing aid. Purple indicates front row seating as priority for those who need to lip read.

The deeper the green the clearer and more sensitive the connection.

